Cabrillo To Open New Cleaners, Laundry Store

Monday Set For Day Of Opening New Business House

Monday, October 8 has been set as the date for opening the new Cabrillo Cleaners and Laundry building at 1875 Cable St., the latest addition to the business structures of Ocean Beach.

Construction was begun the first of July by the Riha Construction Company of San Diego and has been pushed as rapidly as material and labor were available.

The new building, which is owned by Carl Maffioli, will house one of 10 stores of the kind throughout the city that are being operated by this firm, announces Mrs. L. G. Macklin, now the sales manager for all the stores. It is built especially for the cleaning and laundry business and is to be equipped to give better and more up-to-date service than was possible in the cramped and unsuited quarters of the old residential building location across the alley.

Setting back 20 feet from the curb, the new building will permit the new feature of drive-in service for the customers. Frontage on Cable St. is 32 feet and the depth is 24 feet. The structure is one story, of stucco exterior, tile front and cement floor.

New fixtures are being installed and additional new equipment that has been ordered is expected to be here within a month.

Miss Betty Lockwood will continue as office clerk and Mrs. Kittie Harvey as assistant, announces Mrs. Macklin.

City Re-surfaces Several Streets In Ocean Beach

Several of the streets in Ocean Beach are receiving a new re-surfacing this fall. A new oil coated on Voltaire St. for its entire distance through this community was recently completed.

This week the city paved the stretch of Macaulay St. over the ridge near Richard Dana Junior high school, particularly as a safety measure for the benefit of the children who attend that school. The street recently was widened and a sidewalk installed along the south side.

The school authorities this week showed their gratitude to the city for this improvement by sending a letter of thanks to City Manager Fred A. Rhodes.

A third street being re-surfaced is West Point Loma Blvd. between Midway Dr. and Ocean Beach. Rhodes reports that this will be completed in about two months.

LIEUT. EDWIN FRECKLEY EXPECTED HOME IN FEW DAYS FROM GERMANY

Lieut. Edwin M. Freckley of Ocean Beach is expected home this week-end from nearly a year of duty with the U. S. Army overseas in Europe. He landed in Boston Saturday, according to word received here by his wife. She arrived several weeks ago from Durham, N. C. and is staying with the lieutenant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Freckley of 4469 Santa Monica Ave., where she and her little son will greet him on his arrival for a furlough visit.

Serving with the 78th Infantry division, Lieut. Freckley received several citations including the Good Conduct medal and three Bronze Service stars. He received his second lieutenant's commission on the field of battle April 17, 1945. He took part in several of the notable engagements including Remagen bridge and several others in France and Germany, and had been overseas since October 1944. He enlisted at Fort Rosecrans five years ago.

MRS. JAMES E. YOUNG REPORTS PICKING HUGE LEMON IN HER YARD

Mrs. James E. Young Friday phoned The News to report a huge lemon she had picked that day from a tree in the yard at her home, 4330 Coronado Ave. The lemon, of the Eureka variety, measures 12 1/4 inches in circumference by 13 3/4 inches long, she reported, and "is the largest lemon I have ever seen," she said.

A FREE PRESS TORCH OF WORLD PEACE

SIXTH ANNUAL NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK OCTOBER 1-8

Zoo's Director Puts on Program For Kiwanians

Mrs. Belle Benchley of Ocean Beach, famous director of the San Diego Zoo, put on the program for the Ocean Beach Kiwanis club Tuesday evening. She said "we hope to finish Zoo improvements that we started when the war stopped us, and to replace the animals that have been lost during that period as well as to obtain new specimens. We do not care so much about making the Zoo bigger as we do about making it better."

Her brief remarks were preliminary to the showing of slide pictures of the Zoo, views particularly of the unusual animals and other specimens there. Mrs. Benchley's assistant, Mrs. Jacqueline Schermerhorn, who is in charge of the Zoo's educational program, explained the pictures and related several interesting incidents of her experience at the Zoo, showing particularly the intelligence exhibited by some of the animals.

Dr. John W. Wilhoit was program chairman for the evening and about a dozen of the Kiwanians attended as guests of the members. M. B. Ross of the San Diego Kiwanis club was a guest.

President Jerry Sullivan gave honorable mention to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Plant who on Tuesday were observing the 27th anniversary of their marriage.

SUPT. RANKIN, ALSO ONE CLERK, ENJOY VACATION; CLERK ADDED TO FORCE

Supt. Harold Rankin of the Ocean Beach postoffice is on a three weeks vacation, also one of the mail clerks, Mrs. Deniece Gilmore. She is on a month's vacation and is at Colorado Springs, Colo. with her husband who recently returned from serving with the Armed Forces in the Pacific theatre. During her vacation Clyde Sterling, a recently discharged serviceman, is assisting in the postoffice.

Recently added to the force of mail clerks here is C. H. Crain, who had been employed previously for several years in the downtown postoffice.

KIWANIS MEMBERS TAKE PART IN GOLF TOURNAMENT HELD AT CHULA VISTA

Fifteen members of the Ocean Beach Kiwanis club braved the heat of Sunday forenoon and took part in the first Ocean Beach Kiwanis golf tournament of the post-war period. Honors for the 18 holes fell to Rollin E. Reed and E. W. Montgomery and the "booby" prize to Joe R. Lowmes. The other Kiwanians taking part in the play, several of whom having their first experience at the game, were Martin Murphy, Jerry Sullivan, Milton Lancaster, Henry Holman, Graham Rogers, Dan Moss, Al Hunt, Dr. Alfred Sand, Harry Masters, Dr. W. B. Oster, Dan Smith and Frank P. Swan.

DR. W. B. OSTER'S CAR STOLEN SUNDAY AND RECOVERED MONDAY

Dr. W. B. Oster's Buick, with the first flat tire in 55,000 miles, was recovered at Chula Vista Monday after having been stolen the day before, Sunday, and, of all places, from in front of the Ocean Beach police station. The doctor and family, who were on the beach with an Adventist church beach party put on by the "20 Plus" club of the downtown church, found the car gone at the conclusion of the party and at once reported the theft to the police.

Evidently the parties who took the car abandoned it in Chula Vista when one tire went flat, and stole another car, a Pontiac, that had been parked right near where the Buick was abandoned.

Except for the flat tire and a small dent in one rear fender, Dr. Oster's car was not damaged, and only property missing from the interior was a robe. His medical equipment, golf clubs, watch and miscellaneous articles remained intact.

V. F. W. Enrolls Seven Members In Public Rites

At the public initiation ceremony staged by Lieut. Bert A. Allen Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars as a feature of their Sunday evening program in connection with their street fair and festival, seven new members were admitted to membership in the post, the seven being as follows:

William A. Albro, Gordon E. Burnham, Harry E. Daniels, Orbon E. Ramsey, Louis M. Horvath, Wm. E. Harris and John W. Kohr.

The degree team from the Cecil F. Connelley Post of the downtown San Diego V. F. W. officiated at the initiatory work for the candidates.

Adding color and entertainment to the street fair and festival Saturday evening were members of the "Cooties and Cootiettes" to the number of about 25. They were from the various V. F. W. Posts in San Diego county.

Women of the Ladies Auxiliary of the local post report that they cleared about $50 net for their treasury from the booth that they conducted in connection with the street fair and festival at the foot of Newport Ave.

Per Capita Tax In California Now Up To $522

Report Shows Jump From $93 Only 10 Years Ago

Taxes collected from the people of California during 1944-45, the last completed fiscal year, averaged $522 per person, reports the California Taxpayers' association. Ten years ago, 1934-35, they averaged $93 per capita. Total collections for 1944-45 amounted to $4,619,509,000. Tracing the war growth of tax collections in California, the association said:

"For the three fiscal years 1938, 1939 and 1940 tax collections in California stayed about $136 per capita, almost evenly divided among the federal, state, and local governments, at about $45 per capita each. For fiscal 1941 they started up, reaching a total of $152, with $57 going to Uncle Sam, $51 to the state, and $44 to the local governments.

"During 1942, the federal government almost doubled its take, with collections of $102. State collections went up to $57, and local collections held at $44 per capita. Total collections per capita for 1941-42 were $203.

"For fiscal 1943, federal collections again went up, reaching $181 per capita. State collections per person increased, going to $63. Local government collections decreased to $41 per capita. Total collections per person for the year averaged $285.

"For 1944, federal tax collections per capita from Californians were more than double the previous year's level, going to $403 per person. State collections went up slightly, reaching a high of $65. Local collections, with a combination decrease in collections and increase in population, fell to $38 per capita. Total collections for the year reached $506 per person.

"For 1944-45, federal taxes taken from Californians reached $421 per person for the 8,842,700 persons estimated to be in the state at January 1, 1945. State collections per person dropped slightly, despite an increase in total collections, to $63 per capita. Local collections, with an increase in total, held to their $38 per capita level. Total per capita taxes collected from Californians last year were $522."

Tax Rate Stays Same

San Diego county's tax rate for general purposes for 1945-46 is $1.72, no change from the $1.72 rate for 1944-45, but down 34 cents from the 1940-41 prewar rate of $2.06 per $100 of assessed value, the association said today, making public its analysis of trends of county tax rates for general county purpose during the war years.

For 1941-42, the county general purposes tax rate was $2.02 per $100 of valuation. For 1942-43 it was $1.93 and for 1943-44 $1.77.

Forty-one California counties show increases in county tax rates for general purposes for the current, 1945-46, fiscal year, the Taxpayers' organization found. Eleven counties made reductions in rate this year and six showed no change.

COMMANDER I. W. PARKS RELEASED AFTER OVER FOUR YEARS IN NAVY

Commander I. W. Parks of 4435 Del Monte Ave., who practiced dentistry in Ocean Beach for a number of years, was given his release from the Navy Sept. 20 after four years and four months in the service. Of that period, he served 22 months at Pearl Harbor, having arrived there just a few days before the Japs infamous "stab in the back," Dec. 7, 1941. His duty there was in the Navy yard dispensary. Since coming home nearly two years ago he has been stationed at the Naval Base here. Parks also served two years in World War I.

He plans to resume the practice of dentistry as soon as he can build an office on property that he owns on Chatsworth Blvd., he said last week.

He and Mrs. Parks left Friday for St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn., and to visit his parents at Bemidji, Minn. They plan to be gone at least six weeks and for Dr. Parks to take post-graduate study in Minneapolis.

IN THE SERVICE

Lieut. Matthew J. Hegerle, whose mother, Mrs. Emma A. Hegerle, lives at 4519 Bermuda Ave. flew 35 missions against Japan and recalled that one of his five trips to Tokyo was really rough. "That was on May 23," he said, "when our target was within a mile of the heavily defended emperor's palace. Our prop was nicked by flak, the bomb bay doors were shot up, the radar dome was shot away, and a chunk of flak pierced our pirate's head insignia and came to rest just short of the ribs of our commander. We went right back to Tokyo two days later in a different plane."

Appeal To Watch Out For School Children Issued

With the 1945-46 school term open in most California cities, Gordon H. Garland, director of motor vehicles, today issued a special appeal to motorists of Ocean Beach to be especially watchful for school children in the streets and on the highways when driving.

Hazards are particularly great this year, he said, because the removal of gasoline rationing restrictions has increased the volume of traffic greatly throughout the state. He pointed out that 454 children of school age were killed last year in California by the automobile and 10,697 in the same age group injured.

Garland offered this advice to Ocean Beach parents whose children walk to and from school:

Plan the route of the children to avoid hazardous crossings and to pass over protected intersections.

Instruct them to avoid playing enroute and to walk on the left side of the highway if there are no sidewalks.

Instruct them to avoid jaywalking and to observe traffic lights.

Cooperate with the Ocean Beach school's safety patrols.

GOD IS MY CO-PILOT

By COL. ROBERT L. SCOTT

WNU Features.

CHAPTER XVIII: In which Scott tells about his friend, Major "Tex" Hill, to whom he owes his life. Maj. Allison is hit and tries to land his crippled bomber at night.

CHAPTER XVIII: Maj. Allison, who had crashed in the river and had been given up for lost, comes back in a sedan chair carried by admiring Chinese. Chinese coolies and rivermen by means of a method over three thousand years old raise and salvage the sunken P-40.

CHAPTER XIX: The lighter side of life in China. The fight put up by Lt. Dallas Clinger of Wyoming.

CHAPTER XX: Capt. Charlie Sawyer crash-lands and is unable to identify himself. Tribesmen get set to execute him but some new arrival saves him.

CHAPTER XXI: The "Old Externator" gets into another fight and one more Jap will never fly again. The Kittyhawk is so badly mauled it is condemned from further use. Col. Scott gets a new P-40E.

CHAPTER XXII: Another "probable" for Scott. Lt. Daniels is wounded and Maj. Bruce Holloway is shot down, but crash-lands in a rice paddy.

Coming home some nights from the exercise of our hunts together, I would think of my wife and little girl far away in Georgia, and get very homesick. Once I looked at the General and told him how I wished that I could press a button and kill all the Japanese, to end the war, so that we could all go home. He thought for a second or two and then looked back, smiling. "Aw now, Scotty," he said, "we don't want to do that. We've got to learn to hate this enemy. Think of how much fun it is to kill them slow." Yes, sir, the General's business was killing Japs.

Then we'd go home in the darkness, and Wang Cook would fix us a peppery dove-pie from the General's doves and some canned oysters out of the loot of Rangoon.

Col. Meriam C. Cooper was the Chief of Staff to the General. His business was war, too. Cooper had been one of the greatest heroes of the First World War, and was one of the greatest soldiers I have ever seen. I never discovered when it was he slept. At any time of night, he was apt to come into my room, when he visited us in Kunming from his usual headquarters in Chungking. Or when I'd go to see him, I could find him smoking his ever-present pipe at any hour. Cooper had served in the American Air Force in the last war, and when the war was over he had kept right on fighting. He had enlisted with the Poles in the Russian-Polish war, and had been second in command of the Kosciuszko Squadron. After leading many dangerous strafing raids, he was awarded Poland's highest military decorations. Later he made a reputation as an explorer in Persia, Siam, and Africa. Following an active part in the formation of Pan-American Airways, he became one of the best known moving-picture producers in America.

Cooper was a soldier through and through, one of the most intelligent men that I could hope to meet, and the perfect Chief of Staff for General Chennault. Through his constant attention to our espionage in eastern China we learned of the Japanese Task Forces coming through Hongkong on their way to the Solomons and Saigon, and also of the large amount of shipping in Victoria harbor.

Now Cooper was working tirelessly to plan our greatest raid against the Japanese. I remember vividly how he toiled for six days and six nights at the General's house on the logistics for our proposed attack on the largest convoy that had come through Hongkong. Morning after morning, when I went in to breakfast, the floor around the table would be ankle-deep with "Walnut" tobacco from Cooper's pipe, but the plans would be those of a master. General Chennault and Colonel Cooper made, in fact, the perfect tactical team. Everything was ready for the bombing raid by the middle of October, and we merely waited for word from the East that the harbor between Kowloon and Hongkong was filled with Japs.

General Haynes had come to China to lead General Chennault's bombers when he left the leadership of the Ferry Command. He had hurt the Jap plenty with his precision bombing, and had built up a great bombing force, mainly through the inspiration of his personal leadership on the most dangerous missions.

Radio Tokyo had recently been "panning" Haynes, referring to him as "the old broken-down transport pilot." In a way, this was music to our ears, for it meant that the Japanese were being hurt by his bombings or they would not have resorted to such propaganda. But it made General Haynes so mad that he could have torn the Jap to pieces with his bare hands. After all, he had been a pursuit pilot for years, and for the last ten years he had been dean of American four-engine bombers. The records he had set with the B-15 had made history and were inspirations to the Air Corps.

CHAPTER XXIII

It had been only recently, when he had been taken from his thirteen four-engine bombers on the way to blast Tokyo, that he had been assigned to transports. The Japs must have known just how to get under his skin, but in the end I think the knowledge worked against them.

Now he was getting back at them by having thousands of little leaflets printed in several languages, especially in Japanese. They read:

COMPLIMENTS OF THE OLD BROKEN-DOWN TRANSPORT PILOT

He used to drop some of these on every bombing mission he led. He'd go out and tie some to each bomb; put them in the bomb bay so that they fell out when the doors were opened; even throw them out over the Japanese-occupied cities that he blasted. I knew now that he was getting a new supply ready for Hongkong.

Towards the end of October came the word we had so long been waiting for. Victoria harbor was filled with Japanese shipping. In deepest secret we got ready to go.

Our ships would leave from Kunming, but we would of course use the intermediate bases in the Kweilin-Hengyang section, 500 miles to the East. Hongkong, you will recall, is about 325 miles Southeast of Kweilin. It is protected by surrounding enemy fighter fields at Canton and Kowloon. Our objectives would be the shipping in the harbor, the shipping at the docks in Kowloon, and the ships at the drydocks in Hongkong.

Early on the morning of October 25 our twelve bombers took off from Yunnan for Kweilin, and shortly afterwards Hill, Allison, Holloway and I led the fighters off. We were all to infiltrate into Kweilin, a few ships at a time, so as not to alert the coast of eastern China.

For two weeks I had worried about this attack. I thought it would come any day, and because of the tension I couldn't sleep. Each night when I shut my eyes I'd wonder if I would do the right thing when the time came. I'd picture myself flying in the lead, and see planes on my wing going down in flames. I'd roll my head down in bed and with my eyes tightly closed see formations of Zeros passing in endless review, climbing steeply, rolling over in arrogance, with grinning Japanese faces. I'd get up every morning at three o'clock hoping that the word had come, yet also fearing that it had. Today might be the day that I made the mistake that would lose my Group.

When I learned that word hadn't come, I'd spend another sleepless night. I got the doctor to give me something to make me sleep and I had a headache the next day. I knew "my wind was up," as the British say—but why in hell didn't we go on and get the attack over with!

But now I was on the way. I could see the shark-mouths of the P-40's all around, and the whole thing was easy—just what I had wanted all the time. We sat down at Kweilin at one-minute intervals at eight o'clock. The bombers were soon in, and the Chinese were busy servicing the field full of ships. They were the happiest people I had ever seen. They'd point towards Japan and point down with their thumbs and say, "Bu-hao."

While they serviced the ships, we hurried to the alert cave and were "briefed" by the General. We had to work fast, for we were so close to Japanese bases that we could have been caught on the ground with our Air Force if we hadn't been careful. In fifty minutes we were away, the fighters first, and then the bombers. Making our assembly over the designated point, we were off on our greatest mission to date.

All of us were proud to be going. But as I looked at those seven P-40's escorting ten bombers, I could not help feeling apologetic for that greatest country in the world that we were representing. Oh, God, if the day could soon come when we could go against this enemy with a thousand bombers, even a hundred bombers!

Maybe the small fighter force that we had made us lucky ones who were privileged to go resolve all the more that we would make up in quality what we lacked in quantity. Personally I felt like a veteran football player who has been on the bench and has now been called into the big game. Nearly a year before, when Hongkong had fallen to the Japanese attacks from the Asiatic mainland of Kowloon, I had sworn that I would see the first bombs hit the Crown Colony. I had no idea then that I would lead the fighters, that I would shoot down Japanese fighters in the raid, that we would be intercepted by a superior force of the enemy, but that in less than three minutes after the interception there would be only the ships of the U. S. Army Air Force over Victoria harbor.

Now I had the familiar "wind up" feeling that precedes combat. The palms of my hands perspired freely. As I wiped them on the legs of my trousers I saw that the sweat was like mud; it had mixed with the red dust of Kweilin Field through which we had taken off.

Our altitude kept increasing to 20,000 feet, while down below at seventeen thousand were the medium bombers in javelin formation: two Vee's of three, and the last element a diamond of four. We passed one of the river junction check-points that enabled me to compute our ground speed. In fifty minutes I could see the glint of the sun on the Pacific Ocean. As I saw the bomber formation again, I felt proud of the crews of those perfectly spaced ships. This really was like a football game: the bombers were carrying the ball while we in the pea-shooters ran the interference.

I imagined General Haynes, down there in the lead bomber, grinning as he thought of dropping a few hundred more of his leaflet souvenirs to the Japs. "Compliments of the old broken-down transport pilot"—along with at least sixty 500-pound bombs. Big "Butch" Morgan, the best bombardier in the Air Force, had probably wormed his huge bulk through the tunnel into the nose of Haynes' bomber and was even now intensely interested in his pet bomb-sight.

Now I could even smell the freshness of the Pacific. The sky had never been so blue. The beauty of the day and the beauty of those weapons flying so smoothly under us made me forget the scratching of the oxygen mask on my sun-burned neck. It was a joy to look back and see the six shark-mouths on the other P-40's grinning at me. Some day, I thought, Jap mothers were going to frighten their children by referring to them and reminding the brats of Nippon that their fathers had more than likely had that view of an American P-40 for a last memory.

As we got closer to the target, we split our formation of fighters automatically. Tex Hill, Hampshire, and Sher stayed with me; Marks took the other three on the opposite flank of the bombers. The country below had become lower in elevation but was green and still hilly. Over the radio, as we reached a point North of Macao, came the jabbering of Japanese voices on our frequency, and we knew from its ominous sound that they were warning of our attack.

I tensed a little and looked about for enemy planes. Far to my left I could see the three rivers meeting at Canton, could see two fields from which I knew Zeros were taking off to intercept us. We had bypassed Canton purposely by thirty miles. I saw the bombers changing course: we were around Canton now, and were going to steer straight for the North of Kowloon peninsula. The blue Pacific looked friendly, reminding me of the southern California coast. The old, familiar fog banks that should have been covering San Clemente and Catalina were shrouding instead the Ladrone Islands, with only their hilltops visible, sticking out from the fog on the China Sea.

We were turning over Macao, where the Clippers used to land. To the South I could see another Jap field, Sanchau Island. Now to the right was Hongkong Island, shaped like a kidney and mountainous, just about nine miles long and three or four miles across. I could make out the indentations of the romantic-sounding bays whose names I knew—Sandy, Telegraph, Kellet, and Repulse. There were points of land jutting towards the mainland—Quarry Point, with its Naval Drydock, and Shek Tong Tsui, the point over which we would fight our aerial battle. Reaching towards the island like a finger was Kowloon peninsula, separated from it by the blue waters of Victoria harbor. Near the end of the spit of land closest to Hongkong, I saw the large modern Peninsular Hotel. All of us knew that Japanese Generals and staff officers slept there with their women.

We came across the Great West Channel, passed North of Stonecutters Island, and came to our turning point, seven miles North of Kowloon. The bombers were turning South now for the bombing run. This was the crucial moment.

I crossed around and over General Haynes and his formation, watching vigilantly. Far below I saw dust on Kai Tak airfield, and knew that enemy ships were taking off to attack us. My throat felt dry and I had trouble swallowing; I turned my gun switch off and on nervously.

Now I saw the bomb-bay doors opening, and I couldn't keep the tears of excitement from burning my eyes. Anti-aircraft was beginning to dot the sky with black and white puffs. As I dove almost to the level of the bombers, I could feel the ack-ack rock my fighter ship. I kept S-ing to watch for the enemy

S. O. Receives Thank You Letters From Servicemen

(By Georgia Brock)

The Ocean Beach U.S.O. not only is appreciated by the boys stationed in San Diego, but also those who went to the South Pacific to fight, as per the following post card just received from M. Halero, Ph. M. 1/c U.S.S. "I heard some good news on a happy evening spent your place, way out here. Thanks to you for a good job." M. H."

Many letters also are received. One is from a group of boys stationed here—"Dear Wonderful People of America: We servicemen wish to express our gratitude for the fine work you are doing in affording us servicemen a place in which we may enjoy ourselves, which we most surely do in your fine U.S.O. It is nice to know that there is some place where we can go and have clean, wholesome fun. We really appreciate and sincerely hope that you may continue this grand program. Yours Very Sincerely, The Wonderful Men, You have so kind-Received."

In view of so many expressions of gratitude from the boys, we are sure you will not forget the Victory Chest Drive which started Monday, Oct. 1. Part of this money helps support our fine S.O. work, so do your part in helping the boys happy while they are away from home. Our attendance has been increasing greatly and we expect an enormous crowd when the 1st Fleet and Marines arrive the next 30 days. We have added two more ping pong tables which were shipped down from the U.S.O. which closed Oct. 1. If you have an extra salad or casserole dish on Sunday, we would appreciate it for our buffet supper which we serve every Sunday from 5 to 6. Don't forget cookies. We can use them any day in the week. We are also still in need of more senior stewesses to serve on the canteen. We will have our first fall dance Saturday, Oct. 13. We have so added bingo games on Wednesday nights, with prizes. The prizes for last Wednesday night's bingo game were donated by the Kraft Drug Co. We will gratefully appreciate donations of prizes for this effort to entertain the boys.

You Will Be Needing Many Formal Gowns

Gala Season Ahead With Servicemen Returning.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

All signs point to an important social season this year. With our men coming home, there will be more parties, more gala occasions and festivities that require dress-up clothes than we have seen for many and many a day. So look to your evening attire if you would be ready for the coming months in way of formal dress-up and pretty-pretty accessory accents.

The floor-length dinner or evening gown is back in all its glory. There is also increasing call for cocktail types and the short dance frocks are ever so important on the list. In a more sociable season, the restaurant suit takes on new importance.

Milliners are creating hats that have a fabulous look because of the wealth of ostrich that is being lavished upon them, and the glitter of jeweled embroidery.

Gloves tune in on the dress-up program with elaborate decor in way of sequin embroidery and various frills and furbelows that sends glovecraft up to a new high in artistry and fanciful theme.

It's going to be a big season for velvet which is news of utmost importance, for velvet has been conspicuous by its absence for many a season. For the cocktail dress, velvet is scoring new triumphs. The pride of the cocktail group is the two-piece dress of transparent velvet with side-swept bodice closing and a peplum that falls softly about the hips. Black velvets with lingerie accent at the neckline, also bustle-back velvets in such gorgeous colors as royal blue and the new dahlia shade are especially prominent in the new displays.

Among outstanding dinner and evening gowns, one comes across such beguiling creations as the slim wing-sleeved floor-length dress made of white crepe with a gold studded belt slipping through an artful drape at the waistline. A striking use is being made of striped taffeta in the evening mode. One such brought out this season is done in white taffeta striped in mauve, green and orange. It is draped at the back in a bustle-back effect.

Beaded bodice tops worn with floor-length velvet skirts, likewise skirts of satin or crepe are also smart fashion.

Dramatic Styling

The models pictured tell you of a new and dramatic styling technique that makes intricate and dramatic draping its theme. Shown at the top, a soaring toque of gleaming satin in Mindanao coral and Luzon blue goes to dizzy heights. The smart upswept hair-do is designed to accent the profile silhouette. Also presented by the Millinery Designer's league is a draped suit hat as shown below that bespeaks a more elaborate trend in millinery than we have seen for years. This model is in fuchsia felt draped with black grosgrain. Pearls on the hatband and a filmy veil make it feminine.

Fads and Fancies

Gloves present a fascinating theme this season because of the intriguing glitter embroidery and other decorative details being lavished on them. These glamour gloves, of course, are to wear with evening dress and afternoon restaurant costumes and cocktail parties. So keep your eye on the new glove trends.

And now the simple bobby pin takes on new drama. Just out is a glamour bobby pin that has a sterling silver bar anchored over one prong that is jewel set with colorful stones. Just slip this bobby pin in your hair and not only will it hold stray locks in place but it will add the glitter note in a most flattering way.

Company Dinners Easy to Prepare Even on Slim Budget

Green beans take on extra appeal when prepared with shrimp and a curry sauce. They make a colorful as well as point-free dish for dinner guests.

Company dinners on a slim budget? Yes, indeed, they're possible even in these times. Your company will get poetical about economical dinners if they're well cooked and attractively served.

You can make meat go a long way but still have lots of flavor if you turn out a dish of rice and meat balls, dressed in its best with cucumber and parsley. Or, try a completely point-free meal in the Green Bean and Shrimp Curry. Desserts do not lack for appeal. Fresh fruits, now in plenty, can make a beautiful platter all by themselves; and then, there's a variety of desserts that can be whipped up with sugar substitutes.

Company Dinner Menu I.
Chilled Orange Juice
*Green Bean and Shrimp Curry
Molded Fruit Salad
Iced Tea Hot Rolls Relishes
Lemon Chiffon Pie

1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup water
1 cup cooked shrimp, cleaned
Drain cooked beans, reserving liquid. Melt drippings in saucepan, add onion and cook slowly until browned. Remove from heat, add flour and stir until well blended. Add curry powder, salt and pepper. Add bean liquid and water. Cook until slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Add beans and mix well. Cook for 3 minutes, add shrimp and serve with hot, fluffy rice.

Company Dinner Menu II.

2 1/2 cups cooked tomatoes
2 1/2 cups water
2 tablespoons chopped onion

1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
2 1/2 cups grapefruit juice, canned or fresh
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup sugar

Green coloring

Combine with grapefruit juice and add a few drops of peppermint flavoring and green coloring to make a delicate green. Pour into freezing tray and freeze until firm. Pile into grapefruit shells or tall glasses.

NEWSPAPER, A HISTORY

This being Newspaper Week, the spotlight is being placed on the newspapers by the newspapers themselves.

One important phase in which the newspaper stands practically alone is that of providing a week in and week out history of the community in which it serves. No other medium provides the history, particularly of the main events of a community. Names and addresses can be obtained from old city and phone directories, but the bound files of the printed pages of the newspaper contain a complete printed recording of the outstanding community activities. Various organizations, like the Women's clubs and the patriotic groups, have long followed a practice of using clippings from the home newspaper in making up their own histories.

Time and again the files of the newspapers have been used for reference to verify events, dates, and for other data that cannot be found as complete or reliable in any other medium.

CONGRESS CAN EARN A RAISE!

If members of Congress feel self-conscious on the proposal that they vote themselves a salary boost, all they need to do to make the public happy to pay it is to put in order the government's tangled, mushroom growth of departments and agencies, and thereby reduce the war-swollen army of federal civilian employees by a million or so.

The war ended with nearly 3,500,000 civilians on the government payroll (four times the number at the end of World War I), costing the taxpayers eight billion dollars a year in salaries alone!

There are eight departments and agencies involved in labor relations. In the single field of transportation there are 75 bureaus and departments! There are 15 separate agencies in the financing of federal housing! The whole list runs into many hundreds—arbitrary, conflicting, ill-defined, and vastly and uselessly overmanned.

By eliminating millions of bureaucratic sinecures while restoring common sense and efficiency in government, Congressmen would not only earn a substantial pay raise in full measure, but would save so many billions of the people's money that their combined salaries would seem small indeed, by comparison.

Let's Laff

Maybe Think

An Ohio woman states that for 18 years she has been hiding her spare dollar bills in the family Bible, and her husband has never found one of them yet.

Driver: "I want a glass of water for the radiator, a thimble full of oil for the motor, and a demitasse of gasoline. I think that will be all."

Attendant: "Couldn't I cough in your tires for you?"

Insurance Doctor—Any insanity in your family?

Lady Applicant—Well, no, only my husband imagines he is the head of the house.

Mother: "Katie, get off that sailor's lap!"

Katie: "No, mother, I got here first."

Sic: "What say we chip in and give the bride a shower?"

S2c: "Sure, count me in. I'll bring the soap."

"Rastus, what make dis yere bump on yo' head?"

"Ah tel you, Liza, Ah's got dandruff and dey tole me to put toilet water on my maid and de first thing Ah knows dat ol' seat flops down on me."

Joe: "I'm going to bring my girl a corsage tonight."

Bill: "I suppose you know your girl well enough to do that but I'm just going to bring mine flowers."

"Are you allergic?"

"No, I'm Harry."

"Were you inoculated?"

"No, I was drafted."

"Got your appendix?"

"I haven't been issued one yet."

"My God, man, don't you know the King's English?"

"The hell he is!"

If you can't understand a thing, you can always sneer at it, suggests the Philosopher of Ocean Beach thereby making a hit with other dumb-clucks.

"Bring me some cold porridge," said the Pfc. to the waitress in a Paris cafe. "Burn some toast to a cinder," he added, "Fry two bad eggs and serve them on a dirty plate, make the coffee so that it will taste like mud and bring it in a cracked cup so that it will spill all over the front of me when I drink it."

The confection came—and the puzzled waitress asked: "Is there anything more?"

"Yes," said the Pfc. "Now sit down and nag me. I'm homesick."

Sick woman in bed: "Oh, doctor, there must be something dreadful the matter with me, You look so pleased."

Diner: "Look here, waiter, you've got your sleeve in my soup."

Waiter: "That's quite all right, sir. It's only an old coat."

"Joe, you ought to get married."

"I would if I could figure out how to support a wife and the government on one income."

Son: "Pop, what is a buccaneer?"

Pop (engrossed in newspaper): "A buccaneer is an awful price to pay for corn."

A western farmer recently preached his own funeral sermon by way of phonograph record. That's one way to save the minister embarrassment.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kline, 2319 Seaside St., left Friday for Amarillo, Texas to take up their lives where they left off before Mr. Kline joined the Navy. They will again open their golf "pro" shop that the war interrupted.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Gatlin, 4985 Santa Monica Ave., spent the week-end with friends in Los Angeles, Long Beach and Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan T. Green, 4319 Coronado Ave., announce the birth of another girl born September 22. The young lady weighed in at 7 pounds 13 ounces and has been named Mary Diana. She met her sisters Virginia and Christina and her brother Tommy on Monday when she and her mother returned home from the hospital. Her father began his annual vacation on that day to help take care of his family.

During the absence of Dr. and Mrs. I. W. Parks in Minnesota their daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wilson (Rosalinda Parks) and Mr. and Mrs. Don Crouch (Beverly Parks) will live in their home at 4435 Del Monte.

The Ann Cordingly camp of Royal Neighbors will hold their monthly business meeting this evening (Friday) at 8 o'clock in the Woman's clubhouse on Bacon St. Several important projects being contemplated for the coming season are to be discussed and it is hoped as many members as possible can attend.

Clement Callahan, a patient at the Naval hospital, was a dinner guest Wednesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Macconnell, 2303 Seaside St. Mr. Callahan and Mrs. Macconnell were children together in Pasadena and had not seen each other for more than 10 years.

Miss Amelia Bruce, 2133 Chatsworth Blvd., a senior at Point Loma high school, was last week elected president of the 189th chapter of the California Scholarship Federation, an honor society. To become a member a student must have 10 grade points. Miss Bruce had three A's and one B. The high point score must be held throughout a semester to continue as a member. Nancy Peterson was elected vice-president Jane Weisler secretary and Mary Maw treasurer.

Miss Ruby Head and Ralph Nolen were united in marriage Saturday evening at 10 o'clock at the home of Rev. P. O. Jensen, 4692 Niagara Ave. Mr. and Mrs. William Gregory were the couple's only attendants at this quiet home ceremony. They will make their home at 2138 Abbott St. Mr. Nolen is a quartermaster on the Coronado Ferry.

Mrs. Maude Pierce, 4672 Muir Ave., has gone for a two months visit with relatives and friends in Youngstown, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roelke and young son, all of Santa Monica Ave., returned to their home Saturday after a trip to Springfield, Mo.

Mrs. Anna May White of Yuma, Ariz. has returned home after two weeks with her brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Walter Turner and family, 4867 Muir Ave.

A farewell dinner was given Sunday evening at 6:30 in Wallace Hall, Trinity Episcopal church in honor of Rev. Philip Harris who is soon to leave Ocean Beach. Members of the bishop's committee planned and served the dinner. Mrs. Clarence Dersch was the chairman in charge of the cooking and preparation, with Mrs. Bud Jennings, Mrs. Gordon Lilley and Mrs. Meta Bruce as assistants. The young people of the church served the dinner. Rev. Harris was pleased to have nearly 100 friends and parishioners present. After the dinner was enjoyed the treasurer of the bishop's committee, Clarence Dersch, presented Father Harris with a purse as a farewell gift. Entertainment was furnished by Mrs. Berrell Smith who sang, "Fairies at the Bottom of Our Garden" and "The Cuckoo Clock." She was accompanied by Mrs. James Roberts. Community singing also was enjoyed, with Mrs. Smith as conductress.

Another improvement to property on the Voltaire business district is the new tower being erected on the drug store, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Raul Appel. When completed, which should be in about a month, a Neon light will run the length of the building, 45 by 50 feet. The tower will be stucco and will soar twelve feet in the air, having Neon lights on the four sides and atop the tower the words "Drugs." The fountain of the drug store has been non-operating for sometime but is now being repaired and arranged and will soon again be open to the public, reports Mr. Appel.

Under the G. I. bill, the government guarantees half of the loan, up to $4000. If the loan is more than $4000, the government will underwrite only $2000. The rest of the risk must be carried by the lender. Thus far, only 21,411 loans have been made out of the more than 2,500,000 members of the armed services who have been discharged. They have borrowed $30,920,339.73 to build or buy new homes, $722,488.89 to purchase farms and $1,567,454.88 to go into business.

American Legion Pushes Drive For More Members

Congress Asked To Cut Red Tape on G. I. Bill

The American Legion is pushing a campaign for the enrollment of members from the ranks of the servicemen of this area, according to information provided The News for publication this week by Roy W. Orrick, a past commander of Clyde A. Wright Post of Ocean Beach. Slogan for the drive, as announced by National Commander E. N. Scheiberling, is "Go Out and Get 'Em," referring, of course, to the veterans of World War II. The national commander has issued the slogan to every Legion post in the country. Eligibility of these servicemen to membership in the American Legion dates from the signing of the surrender terms by the Japanese, according to a formal opinion issued by Ralph B. Gregg, national judge advocate of the American Legion.

Orrick also calls attention of servicemen to an amendment proposed by the American Legion to the G. I. Bill of Rights, the proposal being designed to make it easier for the returning veteran to obtain a loan under the G. I. Bill of Rights. Under the amendment, which is being proposed to Congress this week, the veteran could:

- 1—Get a certificate of eligibility from the veterans' administration.
  - 2—Apply at any lending agency he chooses.
  - 3—Have the lending agency decide if his loan is sound.
  - 4—Wait until the loan is made before getting approval from the veterans' administration.
- Such amendment, the Legion believes, would eliminate considerable of the red tape now connected with loan-getting. Now the veterans' administration must approve all loans before they are granted. And before it approves any business or farm loans it refers the applications to the RFC and farm security administration, respectively, for an opinion.

Under the G. I. bill, the government guarantees half of the loan, up to $4000. If the loan is more than $4000, the government will underwrite only $2000. The rest of the risk must be carried by the lender.

Thus far, only 21,411 loans have been made out of the more than 2,500,000 members of the armed services who have been discharged.

They have borrowed $30,920,339.73 to build or buy new homes, $722,488.89 to purchase farms and $1,567,454.88 to go into business.

Notice! Notice!

The Lt. Bert A. Allen Post Veterans of Foreign Wars of Ocean Beach wish to make a public statement concerning the carnival which was to have been held Sept. 28, 29 and 30. They regret to announce that due to circumstances beyond their control, they were unable to carry out their plans as anticipated.

The concessions brought to the beach were not the ones promised them, but through co-operation with the police the mistake was rectified even though it meant the end of the extensive plans made.

Both the men of the Post who were in charge of the show and the Ladies of the Auxiliary who managed the food booth wish to extend their thanks and appreciation to the business men of Ocean Beach for their cooperation and to the residents of Ocean Beach for their patience in helping to deal with an embarrassing situation.
